Report German Guards And Czechs Clash On Reich Territory

School Board Decides Against Addition To Senior High School

By an unanimous vote of the eight members present Monday night at the special session of the New Castle School Board, the proposal to build an addition to the senior high school was turned down. The refusal to consider the proposal came after a report by a committee consisting of Dr. W. Fulton Jackson, Clyde M. Whitaker and Robert L. Preston had been heard.

Dr. Jackson, chairman of the committee read the report setting out the reasons why the committee felt that proposal should not be considered at this time. Upon motion the report was adopted, all eight members voting in the affirmative.

The report of the committee, which is self explanatory follows: To the Board of Directors School District of the City of New Castle, Penna., Gentlemen:

At the regular meeting of the Board held September 14, 1938, Mr. A. L. Thayer presented certain data relative to the advisability of constructing an addition to the Senior High School to provide additional

German-Czech Relations Near Open Rupture

Battle Between German Border Guards And Czechs Aggravates Situation

STIFF PROTEST SENT TO PRAGUE

German Minister Ordered Not To Return To Prague After Incident

BERLIN, Sept. 20.—German border guards clashed with Czechs on Reich territory for the first time today in a bloody battle at Soudenberg in which one Czech was killed and 17 Nazis wounded.

The clash brought German-Czech diplomatic relations close to open rupture. The German government drafted a stiff protest to Prague and ordered its minister to Czechoslovakia, Dr. Ernst Eisenlohr, to remain in Germany. He had planned to return to Prague shortly.

Czech Minister Departs
The Czech minister to Berlin, Dr. Vojtech Mastny, has already departed for Prague with all his belongings.

Two Czech gendarmes were captured after the battle, the German news agency DPA reported, but refused repatriation to Czechoslovakia. The body of the slain Czech will be turned over to Czech authorities later in the day.

First reports said the battle, reported to have claimed 17 Nazi casualties, took place between Nazi troops and regular Czechoslovak troops. Later dispatches said the Czechs were members of a fighting communist band wearing the uniforms of Czech soldiers.

If the former proved to be the case, the battle proved the first real clash between Nazi and Czech soldiers. The last serious outbreak of fighting at Mahrtsch-Ostau, which led to the breaking off of Sudeten autonomy negotiations in Prague, involved only Sudeten fighters and Czech troops and police.

Fear New Complications
Indications that the Nazi Reich would take stern retaliatory measures led to fears that Anglo-French efforts to prevent a full-fledged conflict might run into grave new complications.

The clash occurred on Reich territory, according to Czech reports.

President Eduard Benes... will be continue to be firm in his stand of "no plebiscite" and no "annexation"? Or will he accept the reported agreement reached in the London parley of British and French government leaders?

Foreign Minister Kamil Krofta... firmly against a plebiscite but believes peace can be maintained in central Europe by some sort of regional pact that would guarantee his country's territorial integrity.

Anglo-French Proposal Not Yet Answered

MEMORANDUMS ARE SENT LONDON-PARIS

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Czechoslovakia's decision with regard to partition is not expected to be known until tomorrow, Reuter's Agency reported from Prague this evening.

PRAGUE, Sept. 20.—Ancient Prague, gigantic question-mark in a war-fearing Europe, launched large-scale preparations for hostilities today as the government wavered between acceptance or rejection of the Anglo-French proposal for dismemberment to stave off a general conflagration.

Gas mask distribution virtually was completed and huge red crosses were painted on the roofs of all hospitals. The mayor of Prague issued a proclamation to all persons physically unfit for war service to join Red Cross and air defense organizations.

Long Government Session
A morning-long session of President Benes' government led to no definite decision. A lengthy memorandum was dispatched to London and Paris calling their attention to the consequences their proposals will have on the European situation.

The memorandum was reported to have demanded a full explanation as to what form the proposed international guarantee of Czechoslovakia's reduced borders would take. One of the chief questions in Prague's mind is whether Great Britain would be willing to renounce

Train Wreck In California

Report Seven Dead And 35 To 40 Probably Injured In Crash

CRACK PASSENGER TRAINS IN WRECK

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 20.—The Southern Pacific company here today set the list of known dead in the collision of two crack passenger trains at Torrance, Cal., at seven. Three mail clerks were reported missing.

R. M. Richardson and H. R. Parsons, engineer and fireman of the Argonaut, were crushed to death. C. E. Morlon, fireman on the Californian, also was killed, but his engineer was not injured. Four coach passengers aboard the Californian were reported killed.

Engines of both trains were overturned as were the first three cars of the Argonaut and the first car of the Californian, the company reported.

The Californian, bound from Los Angeles to Chicago, was on a siding at Torrance when a mishap—probably a split switch—sent the Argonaut, enroute from New Orleans to Los Angeles, crashing into it.

While no accurate estimate was yet available, the company estimated the number of injured at between 35 and 40.

Find Body Of Missing Man

Remains Of Michael Matis Found Under Tree In Taylor Township

HAD BEEN MISSING SINCE LAST TUESDAY

Missing since last Tuesday, Michael Matis, 46, No. 2 Southview avenue, was found today, dead under a tree on the Cooper farm in Taylor township, about one quarter mile west of the Shenango-Taylor joint school on Martha street. Matis had hanged himself to a tree, using a long strap for the rash deed. The strap had broken sometime after death had occurred and the body was on the ground, badly decomposed.

About ten o'clock this morning Charles Stapp, of Martha street, was running his dogs over the open country in Taylor township and discovered the body. Matis had left home Tuesday, September 13, and had not been seen since.

Matis had been despondent for some time, due to heart and stomach trouble, according to his wife.

Czech Cabinet Is In Agonizing Dilemma Says Knickerbocker

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1938)

PRAGUE, Sept. 20.—To gain time and answer neither yes or no to today the strategy of the Czech cabinet, meeting permanently in Hradsl Palace while Chancellor Hitler's army grows ever more colossal, the Sudeten free corps pushes a new assault on Czechoslovakia and the world waits to see whether the Czechs are going to surrender or Europe going to war.

In Agonizing Dilemma
The Czechoslovak cabinet is in an agonizing dilemma. If they say no to Hitler they stake a conflict which would decimate their population and make Czechoslovakia a second Serbia.

If they say yes to Hitler they stake a possible revolution which would sweep them from office and result in war anyway.

They seek therefore to gain time in the belief that public opinion rapidly is reaching a peak of sympathy for Czechoslovakia which might result in the resignations of prime minister Neville Chamberlain and premier Edouard Daladier.

They also believe that Hitler's Sudeten youth meanwhile may break out in open war in a fashion that would compel him to enter.

The Czech method of gaining time is asking question. Last night they sent an urgent query to France:

No Reply From France
"You have presented us a proposal for the partition of Czechoslovakia. Does this mean you have abrogated your treaty with us and that even while negotiations are going on you would not come to our help if we were attacked?"

An answer to this query has not been received, although hourly it grows more important.

The Sudeten free corps, coming into Czechoslovakia from Germany, began organized attacks on Czech customs offices this morning. Several Czechs were wounded in four frontier villages.

Meanwhile, Polish troops concentrating opposite Teschen give evidence of Poland's effort to seize her share of Czechoslovakia. Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary now reported in Budapest, is expected not only to ask trans-

Poland Serves Formal Notice

Wants Her Slice Of Czechoslovakia If Nation Is To Be Dismembered

(BULLETIN)

PARIS, Sept. 20.—Formal notice that Poland wants her slice of a dismembered Czechoslovakia was served upon the French government today.

Julius Lukasiewicz, Polish ambassador, notified foreign minister George Bonnet that Poland will be unable to remain "indifferent" to solution of the minority problem in Czechoslovakia.

Poland expects its minority there to be accorded the same privileges as the Sudeten Germans and expects to participate in any general deliberations. It was understood the same demarche was made in London, Berlin and Rome.

Latest figures show there are 61,741 Poles in Czechoslovakia, or 36 per cent of the population.

British Labor Party Opposes Czech Partition

Czech Legation In London Issues Communique On Pending Proposals

(International News Service)
LONDON, Sept. 20.—The British labor party openly rebelled today against Anglo-French partition of Czechoslovakia, demanding immediate convocation of parliament as the cabinet's inner council met at 10 Downing street to consider Prague's request for evacuation and simplification of the dismemberment proposal.

In a letter to Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, Major Clement Attlee, labor opposition leader, characterized the proposal as a "grave departure in the policy of this country," particularly with regard to British guarantees of Czechoslovakia's future sovereignty.

With the whole world awaiting a definite decision from Prague on the dismemberment plan, the Czech legation here this evening issued the following communique:

"A definite decision will be taken when present diplomatic negotiations with friendly powers are concluded.

"The decision will be such as to preserve the vital interests of the state and also maintain the interests of all nationalities."

Primary Elections In Four States

Nation Watches 'Purge' Effort

Roosevelt Seeks Elimination Of Congressman O'Connor In New York

O'CONNOR SEEKING TWO NOMINATIONS

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The nation's political attention today was focused on the Roosevelt purge campaign against Rep. John J. O'Connor, of New York, one of the Democratic "big three" of the house.
With the purge fight falling in every senatorial primary where it has been an issue, the election in O'Connor's New York City district offered the administration its one chance for victory.
Three other states, in addition to New York, held primary elections today, thus dropping the curtain on the prelude to the November election battle.

Vote In Four States
Voters went to the polls in New York, Massachusetts, Wisconsin and New Jersey. While the east over the New Deal was injected into many contests, the O'Connor election overshadowed others in national interest.
O'Connor, chairman of the powerful rules committee, is opposed in the 16th New York district for the Democratic nomination by James H. Fay, a crippled war veteran and until recently a deputy collector of internal revenue.

As a result of the purge effort, O'Connor also sought the Republican congressional nomination. He was opposed here by Allen Dulles, Republican organization candidate.

See New Angle
The New York election was expected by political experts to shed light on New Deal standing in a heavily populated city district. O'Connor, representing an East Side district, serves constituents ranging from residents of the richest to the poorest sections of the city.

In his effort to purge O'Connor, president Roosevelt was joined by Mayor LaGuardia, of New York, and the American Labor Party.
O'Connor incurred administration ire when he successfully led the fight to block the president's reorganization bill in the last session. A brother of Basil O'Connor, Mr. Roosevelt's former law partner, O'Connor is said by his friends to have been almost purged by Tammany in 1932 because he supported Mr. Roosevelt for the presidential nomination.

It is silly to say that man has conquered the air. Who ever saw anything conquered by him that was still as good as ever.

INDICT TEN IN PRISON DEATHS

A. Craven, guard captain James McGuire and guards Alfred Brough and Francis Smith.
In each case, four bills were returned to Judge Theodore Rosen on charges of "murder" and four bills were returned on charges of voluntary and involuntary manslaughter.
Face Lesser Charges
The five guards not included in the "murder" indictments were: Robert Morrow, William Staines, Thomas Cavanaugh, John Mulherin and Sylvester Weaver.

The grand jurors refused to return true bills against two prison physicians, Dr. George F. Enoch and Dr. Hans Abrahams, and Guards Francis James and Edward Corkery.
Mills, Craven and those held under the other indictments were found guilty of "criminal negligence" by a coroner's jury which investigated the deaths of the four unruly convicts. Witnesses at the inquest testified the victims had been placed in a super-heated isolation cell block, known as Klon-dike, along with 21 companions in an effort to break the hunger strike.

Then, surviving prisoners testified, with steam radiators turned on as punishment, the men were "baked" under temperatures alleged to have been as high as 200 degrees. With water faucets in the cells shut off, the men were forced to turn to toilet hoppers for water to relieve their agonies, the coroner's jurors were told.
The defendants are now at liberty under heavy bail.

Some cities are requiring that bicycles be licensed. McKees Rocks, for instance, in Beaver county, exacts a fee of fifty cents, and gives in return a shiny aluminum plate, which the cyclist is required to attach to his bike. The ordinance taxing bikes was passed in the nineties, but it was not rigidly enforced until recently. It is now claimed that the use of bicycles has increased to such an extent that they have become a hazard and warrant the enforcement of the law.

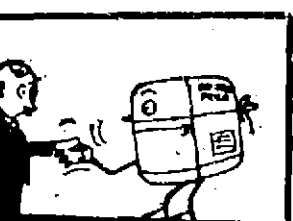

Over in Butler a woman called the police department and asked them to find her husband, whom she thought was drinking, and she was afraid that he would lose his money. When the police found him and took him to the police station, they gasped when they found $1,738.56 on his person. The mystery was cleared up when the man's wife explained that he had once lost money in a bank failure and ever since he carried his money on his person. It's not often that an intoxicated man is fortunate enough to be arrested with his money still in his pockets.

Registration of county voters under the direction of Thomas Edmunds, head of the registration bureau is now under way. Registrations held at New Wilmington and at the office of Alderman Brice in the first ward yesterday were the first to be taken outside the registration office. Registrars are sitting again today at the office of Alderman Brice, and at Frisbieburg. Tomorrow, voters in the Harlansburg district will be registered, and on Thursday the first day of registration will be held at Ellwood City. These registrations are only for persons who are removing the covering as to those who have changed their place of residence, and for those who desire to change their party affiliations.

Some residents along the newly widened Youngstown road are attempting to get grass started on terraces by covering the newly sown plots with coarse muslin and burlap. This is supposed to prevent the terraces from washing until the grass has taken root. It is not necessary to remove the covering as it is and the grass grows up through it. Appearance of most of the properties along the newly widened sections have been greatly helped by the improvement. There is a well defined movement on foot to widen all principal roads. This state now has more three and four way traffic roads than any other with the exception of New York.

Smoke has been noticed curling from culde a number of chimneys throughout the city during the past few days, an indication that it is getting a little too chilly to do without fire. Some people use gas stoves at the beginning of the fall season, as mylady don't want to get her curtains soiled. The only trouble with gas stoves seems to be that they only heat one room, and when it's chilly weather the whole house gets cold. Pa. News went into a house the other day and found a man sitting with his overcoat on, and a woman with a fur coat. They were arguing about starting up the furnace.

Fog, so thick in spots, one could almost cut it with a knife, enveloped the local district last night. Automobiles driving along the road, rolled it up in billowing waves. Visitors to a district meeting of the Eastern Star here last evening, had a hazardous time getting to their homes in the surrounding district. Some of them spent the night with friends here and did not attempt the journey until this morning. It is stated.

Business Agent Killed By Bullets In St. Louis, Mo.

(International News Service)
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 20.—The fatal shooting by two masked assassins of Arthur Schading, 51-year-old hard-boiled business agent of Electrical Workers Union No. 1, grew out of a row in the electric phonograph business, police officials believed today.

Two masked gunmen confronted Schading last night as he was locking up the electrical workers hall and fired at him point blank, slaying him with bullets. Schading, nearly a down time, died before he could be taken by ambulance to city hospital.
Four days ago, Schading, dictator of the local S. F. of E. electrical union, announced a campaign to include in his union the service men who have charge of installing and servicing the approximately 3,000 electric phonographs in restaurants, taverns and other establishments in St. Louis and St. Louis county.

GERMAN-CZECH RELATIONS NEAR OPEN RUPTURE

ritory at Seidenburg, ten miles southeast of Goerlitz, between 3:30 and 4:30 a. m.

It began, according to the Germans, as a result of some aggressive Czechoslovakian action, nature of which was not immediately ascertainable.
German reports stated the fight began after several hundred Czechs fired on the German border guards and then crossed the border into Reich territory with the apparent intention of "kidnaping" some Sudeten refugees.

Authorities in Berlin characterized the incident which touched off the fighting as a "Czech breach of the peace."

Pierce shooting raged for an hour, it was asserted. Two German border guards were seriously wounded and 15 slightly wounded.
The number of Czech casualties, if any, could not be learned for the time being.

Special seriousness was sent the battle because it marked the first actual engagement between Czech troops and German border guards.
Most of the previous fighting in the Sudetenland has been limited to Czech police and anti-Nazi on one side and Sudeten Deutsche party members on the other.

This move, accompanied by great concentrations of German troops between Vienna and the Hungarian frontier, is interpreted to mean that Germany intends in case of war to meet the Red army in the Danube basin.

long-standing policy and definitely promise to come to Czechoslovakia aid if attacked under the proposed new set-up.

It was understood the memorandum also suggested that the result of recent municipal elections throughout Czechoslovakia should not be used as the basis for cession of minorities. Municipal polling, Prague holds, does not necessarily reflect national sentiment.

Admit Some Disorders

German news agency reports of a new Nazi-Czech clash in the Sudetenberg are first denied, but there later was an indirect admission some disorder had occurred. Further details are being awaited, it was said, before any statement is made.

Officials maintained that the government has not yet finally accepted or rejected the British and French "recommendations," which urged complete compliance with the demands of Chancellor Hitler for "anschluss" of the purely German Sudeten areas with Germany.

But it appeared, however, that the Czech government was cracking under the terrific pressure that was brought against it from all quarters, and would probably yield rather than attempt to stand off Germany's mightily military machine without French, Russian or British aid.

While the government wavered, the Czech population made it clear they considered themselves "abandoned" by Britain and France and victims of a "base betrayal."

He was born in what is now Czechoslovakia, March 10, 1892, and as a young man of twenty years of age came to the United States settling in New Castle. A year later he was married. For many years he had been employed in the Shenango tin plant as an opener.

He was a member of St. Michael's church and St. Michael's Society. He is survived by his widow and the following children: Andrew, 19, Mary, 17, Michael, 15, John, 13, Edward, 11, Paul, 8, and Margaret, 6. Sheriff M. C. Ingham and Coroner C. P. Byers were called by Mr. Stapp upon the discovery of the body and they called an ambulance to remove the body. Both officers went to the scene of the tragedy. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday morning at 9:30 from the J. R. Noga funeral home. Interment will be made in St. Joseph's cemetery. Rev. J. E. Janok, pastor of St. Michael's will be in charge.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHO GETS STUDENT READY FOR COLLEGE?

WHO IS getting the student ready for college, or the boy or girl who will go to boarding school?

Suppose you are going to enter college this fall. How much responsibility have you been taking for preparing and assembling your equipment and for purchasing and assembling your clothing?

You and I know some faithful, self-reliant and self-respecting sons and daughters who will work hard in house or field up to the hour they leave for college. Perhaps they have worked and helped their family all summer. Some of my readers have been among those who have done so.

But there is a much larger group, it seems, who have let their parents, particularly their mothers, assume the major responsibility of getting their things ready for college.

It stirs up my ire. I must confess, when I think of the many able-bodied youths loafing about or running about by day and night spending their parents' money on pleasures while their weary mothers mend, clean, launder, press and pack their clothes. Some of these mothers sit up late at night, after a long, hard day of work, maybe slowly withering under illness, and so tired when they do go to bed they can't sleep, while the thoughtless, thankless and dependent son or daughter gaily goes about. Perhaps the fathers of these children have been laboring at the office, factory, market or farm in order to earn the money to finance the college education, sometimes at great self-sacrifice and with deep anxiety.

Who Does Work? College student and to-be-college student: Who does the shopping for your clothes and other equipment? Who will pack, rope and label your trunk and other parcels? Who will get your boxes off to the shipping station? When you go, who will buy your ticket at the station? Who will check your baggage? During the week after your arrival at college, will you long-distance, write or write home for the things you left behind?

How you answer these questions depends on how nearly you are grown up, how self-reliant, therefore, you have grown to be. If, after you have taken stock of your character, equipment, you believe you do not measure up to what you ought to be you must resolve, even at this late date, to prove from now on that you are no longer a helpless and dependent child. Here is hoping you have the stuff of character to carry out such a resolve. However, don't expect to make yourself over all at once. Center your efforts on a few things. Succeeding at them, you can attack others. Not how far you are now from the crisis in your character development, but how surely you are moving from it, is the measure of your progress.

If twelve more policemen will save the lives and property of the people of New Castle, they should be put on duty. However, a lot of people don't think much of cruiser police duty. At least the cars should be painted a color so they would not look like any car. There is a reason for the cars of the state police being painted white. That same reason holds good for city policemen. And by the way there is just as much reason for stopping speeding on the city streets at night—even all night as there is for stopping it at school houses. The speeders and racers should be chased from the streets all hours of the day—24 of them. It's a great idea when people have to call mass meetings to get relief from speeders! Give us police enough to protect us—but see that they organize.

What's What At A Glance

Elections Tell Way Wind Blows Three Groups In Coming Congress Roosevelt Cannot Dictate

By CHARLES F. STEWART Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 20.—Generally speaking, President Roosevelt has lost his fight to dictate this year's Democratic congressional nominations. True, most of the New Dealers he endorsed have been re-nominated, but not quite all of them.

His last Senator from Idaho, Senator McAdoo in California and a scattering of lower house members, such as Representative Mervyn Dymally in Texas. In short, he wasn't altogether successful in the re-nomination of New Deal incumbents, who usually are easier to keep in office than it is to enable new aspirants to break in initially. On the other hand, the Democratic Old Dealers, toward whom the administration has been more or less openly hostile, have been practically uniformly victorious. Besides, several Old Dealers, whom the administration didn't oppose (because it realized the hopelessness of trying to beat them) again are in the running.

Net result: Democratic anti-New Dealers in 76th congress will be slightly (not much) more numerous, in comparison with pro-New Dealers, than in the 75th congress.

There's this qualification: The Republicans probably will gain two or three senate seats and quite a little block of representatives in November. They won't gain enough seats to change the legislative body's essential Democratic-Republican complexion—as per party labels. But party labels no longer mean anything. The Republicans who will win will be the same things as anti-New Deal Democrats.

Yes, there will be a few third and fourth parties—Farmer-Labor folk and LaPollette Progressives. Yet even these will not be genuine New Dealers.

Among the independents the only 100 per cent New Dealer I know of is Senator Norris. Senator Norris

INDIAN ENTERS HOUSE The Old Stone House is one of the most noted landmarks in Butler county, Pennsylvania. The house is interesting to school children. It is located midway between Butler and Slippery Rock.

In olden days it was called "The Stone House Tavern." Travelers on horseback would stop there for meals, lodgings and to change horses. George Washington is said to have stopped here while traveling north during the Revolutionary war.

At one time a family by the name of Wigton lived in the house. Mr. Wigton had gone to a neighbor's to borrow a horse for the day. An Indian entered the house and asked for food. Mrs. Wigton was about to get it when the Indian killed her. Then the Indian killed all the children. He picked up the baby, walked to the well and there hammered it against the well curb.

Mr. Wigton came home and found his family murdered. He called for help. The Indian was found and he was hanged in Butler county.

This old stone house is fast falling into decay. In a few years there will be nothing but crumbling stone to recall the stirring historical stories.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL) Copyright 1938 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Nothing could better have served the dramatic unities than the transfer of Charlemagne's sword from Vienna to Germany, as a climactic detail of Nuremberg ceremonies. In his book, "Meln Kampf," and in a hundred revelatory declarations, Hitler has made it clear that he considers himself the heir of Charlemagne, and that he intends to rebuild the Holy Roman Empire.

Voltaire remarked that it wasn't holy and it wasn't Roman and it wasn't an empire, which may or may not be true, but at any rate it is still some kind of a mystic entity, a dream hangover of the ages, which has steamed up more Fuehrers than any sharply delimited green, red or yellow area in the geography books.

Napoleon was chief among them. Billings back through history books, I find that Napoleon has been acutely bitten by the Charlemagne bug. He wrote: "Because, like Charlemagne, I unite the crown of France to that of Lombardy, and my empire marches to the East." These historic germ-carriers infect each other. We find Hitler picking up the "Drang nach Osten" in "Meln Kampf."

It seems probable that Napoleon and Charlemagne have induced more power psychoses than any men in history. Hitler coubles in the two roles. It was Napoleon who wrecked the empire, and it is another little corporal up from the ranks who is out to re-fashion it with expensive additions and betterments and a much grander set-up all around.

The entire saga of Carolingian France never produced showmanship comparable with that of the marching, singing hosts of Nuremberg, with all their glittering panoply of empire. Are they empire-builders or are they just some more "toy-makers of Nuremberg"? That goes into the suspense file.

A glance back at the epic cycle of the Charlemagne legends gives an interesting alignment of German and French myths. France certainly had more right to brag about Charlemagne than any other nation, yet it was Germany who took over his sword and who fanned up the vast body of Carolingian legend, and fused it with their own Odin myth—Odin, the god of war, who ruled in Valhalla and sent his two black ravens all over the world keeping the home office informed.

The legends (fabrics elaborated and perpetuated every fragment of legend they could lay their hands on. Theirs was the tale of Charlemagne's rising from the dead, at the time of the Crusades; of the serpent who, in return for his kindness, gave him a potent charm, and a hundred others, all made in Germany—and odd it seems that this should have a famous label for instruments of precision.

The Italians also declared themselves in a big way on the Charlemagne legend, and in their Latinized versions of the epic linked it with the dreams of a someday resurgent Italy.

And here's the interesting contrast. The tough-minded French took the Charlemagne legend, and all the rest of their folk were fastinating folk lore with remote historic antecedents, aesthetically and historically interesting, but having nothing to do with France's highly particularized and realistic concerns. The Charlemagne legend would seem to belong in France, if anywhere, and it has been built up in Germany and Italy.

Vestigial feudalism and romanticism is confined to the three totalitarian changers of modern democracy—Germany, Italy and Japan.

Japan. The most revealing studies of Japan now appearing show the origins and motivations of dominant militarism rooted deeply in the Japan of the ancient Samurai. It is the ancient romantic and not the modern industrial and scientific Japan which moves on China. (Continued on Page Five)

Comes now the common cold. It is common only because so many have one.

It is uncommonly annoying to all and sundry.

Fortunately the common cold is often localized and self-limited. The patient with the least resistance suffers most.

Complications are forever threatening. The sinuses and middle ears sometimes become involved. Influenza is ever a threat and always serious.

ing the World War, the late Thorsten Veblen repeatedly wrote that the desperate problem of civilization in the post-war decades would be to liquidate the past. He said it would rise again and menace the world.

And this, it seems, swiftly has come to pass. Charlemagne's sword is enshrined at Nuremberg. But the Holy Roman Empire, before it was wrecked in the brutal power complex of the new state sovereignty, which Machiavelli savagely and accurately appraised, marked a noble aspiration.

Dante and Erasmus, fervently and prayerfully invoked it as the one desperate hope for a world order which alone could save civilization. It failed, as did the League of Nations, similarly freighted with great spiritual aspirations. The world of oysters and sailing ships could somehow worry along without a world order. Can we?

Man, With Family Of Six, Sophomore In Senior High

Where there's a will, there's a way.

Harry V. DeVault, New Castle man with a family of six, is on his way to become a Baptist minister and he is determined passing through obstacles that to some people would seem insurmountable.

To be an ordained Baptist minister a man must have high school and seminary education. When Mr. DeVault felt called to the work of spreading the gospel several years ago, he had neither. Instead of being discouraged he went to the New Castle high school and enrolled as a student. This fall he is a sophomore, technical course, and is looking with hope to his graduation, then to his successful completion of seminary studies. Meanwhile he devotes a great deal of time to volunteer church work. He conducts the Power Prayer Room on Croton avenue and helps in several of the Baptist churches of New Castle and vicinity.

School Board Against Addition To High School

class rooms, gymnasium and cafeteria. He proposed to the Board that such an addition could be financed and constructed under the terms and conditions of an Act of Assembly of the Extraordinary Session of 1933 known as the Thompson Bill.

In order to arrive at a definite decision your committee was appointed to investigate all matters pertinent to the case and make recommendations to you. We, therefore, made a survey of conditions at the Senior High school, considered the provisions of the Thompson Bill and submit under separate headings our findings and recommendations.

Crowded Conditions
There is a very definite shortage of room space for classes. At least ten additional rooms are needed to provide adequate facilities for the present enrollment of approximately 2,100 students. There is a lack of storage space for musical instruments. The Home Economics Department needs additional space. No dressing rooms or storage space for stage equipment are available for the Dramatic Classes. There is need for a room for men teachers, a health room for girls, and a rest room for the women teachers. Corridors, hallways and the present cafeteria quarters must be used as study halls, under conditions detrimental to the best interests of the students. Music rooms for band and orchestra should be provided, as well as provision for vocational and industrial work at the Senior High level.

Remedial Recommendations
Provide storage space for musical instruments by enclosing the space between the pillars and walls on either side of the present gymnasium at the floor level.

Provide additional Home Economics space by re-opening this department at the Washington Junior high and adding all students from the northern portion of the city to this school, reserving high school facilities for girls from all other sections of the city.

Provide storage space for stage equipment by construction above proposed storage space for musical instruments.

Provide additional class rooms by requiring certain groups or classes to attend the Washington Junior High where space is available. The proposed new High school for Nesamook Township will remove about 120 students from our schools and will alleviate part of the crowding.

The removal of the cafeteria to a portable building, as hereinafter noted, would also provide some additional space.

For the present we offer no recommendations for the room for men teachers, the one for a health room for girls, nor the rest room for women teachers. By the adoption of the provisions previously noted these problems may be solved more easily. Dressing rooms for Dramatic classes may be provided as well as the three on which no recommendations are made, should our later recommendation regarding a gymnasium be approved.

Provide vocational courses for boys as a Technical branch of Senior High work. Use of the shops at Franklin Junior high would provide facilities for 100 to 150 boys for half-time each day. The balance of the day would be spent in class at Senior High.

Gymnasium Facilities
We find the present gymnasium facilities do not give the opportunity for health education as provided by suggestion of the Department of Public Instruction. Each student should have 120 minutes per week as a minimum in health and physical education for the entire secondary school period. This work gives one third unit credit per year.

In order to comply with this regulation additional gymnasium space must be provided.

Remedial Recommendation
Additional gymnasium space could be provided by an addition to the High School building at the rear of the auditorium. This would increase the depth of the stage and would provide the necessary space without interference with the use of the auditorium. Such addition could also include sufficient space for storage rooms and dressing rooms for the Dramatic classes. This proposed plan would make an auditorium-gymnasium similar to that at Franklin Junior High. We believe a large part of the physical and health education could be conducted outdoors in suitable weather with from two to four instructors to care for this work.

Cafeteria Facilities
Cafeteria facilities at Senior High are deplorable. With an enrollment of over 2,100 we find space accommodating only 100 persons at a time. Lunches are carried and eaten in corridors, halls and class rooms. Many students bring lunches on account of their inability to get proper service. The use of the basement hall as a lunch room for boys has been condemned by State Inspectors as hazardous in the event of fire. This situation should have immediate attention.

Remedial Recommendations
We recommend that a portable building be erected in a suitable place, sufficiently large to accommodate approximately 500 persons at one time. Provision should be made for separate space for faculty members and a separate service line be allotted. Such building could be used at other than lunch periods for band and orchestra classes, now necessarily held in the auditorium.

The Thompson Bill
At this present extraordinary session of the general assembly, Senate Bill No. 7, proposed by Senator Thompson, was passed increasing the powers and authority of the general state authority to include school buildings and the furnishings and equipment thereof.

Senate Bill No. 8, also proposed by Senator Thompson, provides an amendment to Article 6 of the Act approved May 18, 1911, by authorizing school districts singly, or jointly with other districts, to convey or lease property to the General State Authority, to acquire additional property for such purposes, and to contract with and lease property from said authority, authorizing the Commonwealth to join with school districts in such contracts and leases, and in such cases defining the assistance to be rendered by the Commonwealth, and authorizing the withholding of state appropriations in certain cases.

In order for a school district to take advantage of the Act certain steps are to be followed in routine procedure. The local school district selects a registered architect or engineer. The project must be approved by ALL of the following agencies:

Local board of school directors.
Department of Public Instruction.
State Art Commission.
Department of Labor and Industry.

Department of Health.
The General State Authority.
The Public Works Administration.
The final approving authority is the Public Works Administration.

The land on which the building is to be erected must be owned or acquired by the school district and conveyed or leased to The General State Authority. This conveyance may be absolute or a lease for a term not to exceed ninety-nine years at such rental as may be determined.

The school district, with the approval of the Department of Public Instruction, shall have the power and authority to lease, as lessee, from the General State Authority any school building, or improvement thereof, constructed by the authority with all furnishings and equipment thereof, for a period not to exceed thirty years at such rental as may be determined by the authority.

Forty five per cent of the cost of construction, furnishings and equipment is to be furnished by the Public Works Administration to The General State Authority.

The Commonwealth is empowered by this Bill, to pay the authority from ten to seventy per cent of the balance of the cost, the percentage accruing to the school district to be determined on a basis of a true valuation per teacher of assessable property. In our case we would be allotted thirty per cent of the balance from the Commonwealth or sixteen and one-half per cent of the total.

This would leave thirty eight and one-half percent of the total cost to be borne by the school district and repaid as rental over a period of thirty years.

In the case of financially distressed school districts the Commonwealth shall pay all or any part of the rental upon the determination of the Department of Public Instruction.

The State appropriation may be withheld from any district for failure to pay, or to provide for the payment of, rentals to the General State Authority.

Enrollment Data
A survey of information furnished by the superintendent on the school enrollment shows a decided downward trend in the elementary grades. From 1928 to 1938 the enrollment in grades 1 to 6 inclusive disclosed a loss of 1036.

There has been an increase in enrollment in grades 7 to 12 inclusive, to the number of 830 in the same period.

The net decrease in total enrollment for the 10 year period is 206.

This indicates that within a very short time the decrease in enrollment in elementary grades will have its effect in the secondary grades.

Conclusion
Your committee has checked comparative costs to the school district between the provisions of the Thompson Bill and by a sale of bonds to finance a new addition to the Senior High school, estimated at $200,000.00.

By the terms of the bill the share of the P. W. A. would be $29,000.00 the Commonwealth $33,000.00 and the school district $77,000.00. We have been informed that the annual cost per year for thirty years is based on 6.46 per cent of the school district's share of $77,000.00.

This would mean an annual rental to be paid to The General State Authority of $4,974.20 per year for the thirty year period or a grand total of $149,226.00. Title to the land and building would be held by the Authority until all payments were completed. Plans for the building, letting of contracts for construction purchases of furnishings and equipment, and all matters relative to the same are removed from the control of the Board of Directors and vested in General State Authority. We would have to accept just what might be handed to us without recourse or redress.

Should a new addition be erected without taking advantage of the Thompson plan we might obtain a grant of the forty five percent of the total cost from the P. W. A. and finance the other fifty five percent ourselves by a sale of bonds to the amount of $110,000.00. A loan of this amount repaid at $5,000.00 per year with interest at 6 per cent would cost at 2 per cent interest a total of $143,000.00; at 2 1/2 per cent interest $149,875.00; at 3 per cent interest, $156,750.00. The P. W. A. does out its grant piecemeal and the Administrator has the power to suspend or nullify the grant at his discretion. The uncertainty of the program should be considered.

To either plan of financing should be added an estimated annual overhead expense of $4,900.00 for plant operation and maintenance.

At the most conservative estimate, and by the plan of financing, the school district would increase its annual expenditures at least $10,000.00 to $13,000.00.

In view of present business conditions and in spite of the apparent generosity of the State and Federal governments, we believe it would be unwise to erect any addition to the Senior High school. The time allotted for consideration and acceptance of the provisions of the Thompson Bill is very brief and its urgency for quick action on the part of the school district will, no doubt, make some of them approve the matter with only a cursory examination of the various details. We have endeavored to examine all pertinent facts in the matter. We feel that the changes and remedies we have outlined could be accomplished at a very nominal expense and could be done as finances permit.

We therefore recommend that no consideration be given to the provisions of the Thompson Bill and that no new addition be constructed at the Senior High school.

Respectfully submitted,
W. PULSTON JACKSON,
CLYDE M. WEITZAKER,
ROBERT L. FRESTON.

Probe Expenses Bill Is Passed

Legislators Pass Bill For $50,000 For Graft Probe Committee

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 20.—The bill to appropriate $50,000 as expenses for the house graft investigating committee was on its way to the governor for his approval today but only after narrowly escaping defeat.

Up in the senate for final passage the bill at first failed to receive the constitutional majority necessary for its passage.

A quick check of the roll call showed Sen. John J. Hulska, Cambria Democrat, had failed to vote. He arose and asked that he be recorded in favor of the bill, thus giving it 26 votes, the constitutional majority required for passage.

Twelve senators voted against the appropriation. Two Democratic senators led the opposition, Anthony Cavalcante, Fayette, and J. Albert Reed, Washington.

Meanwhile, the house bill appropriating $300,000 for the expenses of the special session was passed finally by the senate and awaited only concurrence of the house in a senate amendment before going to the governor for his signature.

Little Red School Is Gradually Passing

Year by year, the number of "little red schoolhouses" in Lawrence county has been steadily decreasing, and in a few more years they will be a thing of the past with only a few exceptions.

While they are passing out of existence, the buildings still remain, but are used for a wide variety of purposes. Only a few have not been turned to some useful purpose, like the one located at the intersection of the East Brook and Lakewood roads.

Union township has one that has been turned into a garage by the road supervisors of the township, while there is another on the old Mercer road, Highland avenue extension, which serves a similar purpose.

One on the road leading from Highland Heights to Walpole has received a coat of yellow brick veneer and is gradually being turned into a fine residence.

On the Harlansburg road, just a few miles outside the city, near the entrance to the fair grounds, is another which has been turned into a residence. It still retains its original red color. On the Ellwood City road is another, which has been turned into a residence.

In some cases, the ground reverts back to the original owners, if the school is abandoned and in a lot of these cases the ground has been turned back, but the buildings have been torn down and the lumber and building materials sold to the highest bidder.

If the present school consolidation program, which is being contemplated by various school districts, takes place, there will be a great many more which will be discarded. Wilmington township has six, New shannock township five, Mahoning township six and Big Beaver township three, besides more in other districts where building programs are planned.

At the rate these little one and two-room structures are being abandoned, in another decade or so there will be mighty few of them left in the county.

It will be several decades, however, before their memory will be erased from the minds of those who once attended them, and spent some of the happiest hours of their life within their portals.

Report Secret Plans Made By Japan To Strike At Britain

General War Only Awaited

With Britain Busy In Europe, Japan Would Strike At Far-Away Possessions

EXPECTED BRITISH FLEET TO BE TIED UP

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—A paralyzing fear that her own great empire on which the sun never sets would be the sacrifice of another general war in Europe led Great Britain to acquiesce in the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia.

This disclosure of the stakes waged in the behind-the-scenes diplomatic battle over the German-Czech crisis reached high official quarters today and was revealed to international news service on responsible authority.

Japan's Secret Plan
In the midst of the crisis last week, when the world feared Chancellor Hitler might at any moment give the order for an invasion of Czechoslovakia, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain was informed by the British intelligence service of a secret plan of Japan to strike at Britain's empire in the Far East.

The bold stroke of Nippon, Washington was informed, was to be held in leash until Britain's armed strength became wholly involved in a war with France against Germany.

Then, this authoritative source revealed, the Japanese navy and strong expeditionary forces were scheduled to strike successively and swiftly at Hong Kong, Singapore, the Malay States, India and Australia.

In its stride, the Japanese forces, it was stated, planned to overrun the Netherlands East Indies, where are located priceless oil lands.

bilities only scratched, would provide Japan with an unending source of food and wool and an outlet for her teeming population, it was pointed out. From India—fabulous, untold wealth and an inexhaustible source of man power.

Only by the might of its sea power, assured by the world's most powerful fleet, has England been able to keep a hold on this vast, sprawling Oriental empire.

Japan counted, it was asserted, on a major European war involving England in Europe tying up the British fleet in European waters to blockade Germany, keep open its immediate sea lanes for food and munitions supplies and to watch Italy.

Without a fleet free to dispatch instantly to the Far East Britain's Oriental empire would be a comparatively easy prize, according to high military and naval opinion.

Britain learned, it was stated, that the Japanese fleet, in its own waters as mightily as Britain's or the United States, has been kept entirely free of the present Sino-Japanese conflict.

Japan, the British intelligence report was prepared to halt its present war in China, keeping less than a half million men in China to hold the conquered lands, and with a million campaign hardened troops under arms, its strong fleet and the Japanese nation keyed to war's effort, strike south toward the British possessions.

Junior Programs Plans Attractions

"Princess And Swineherd" And "Bumblebee Prince To Be Presented Here

Dorothy L. McFadden, field representative of Junior Programs, Inc., visited various schools of New Castle on Monday explaining to pupils and teachers the two attractions that will be presented this year under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association.

The two attractions this year are "The Princess and the Swineherd" and "The Bumble Bee Prince", the first a ballet and the second more of a dramatic performance. Last year "Hansel and Gretel" and "Pinocchio" were presented to Junior Programs, Inc., had its inception in New York where several educationally minded women conceived the idea of bringing opera, classic music, ballets and drama to school children in an understandable way. The idea caught the fancy of educators and each year sees a growing interest in it.

"The Princess and the Swineherd" will be presented on November 15 and while it is primarily for the school children it is real entertainment for the grownups.

Junior Programs, Inc., attempts to make no money on the ventures. If the expenses are paid the season is a success. For this reason the prices are kept down at a level where there are few who cannot afford the attractions.

Recently Mrs. McFadden returned from a trip abroad where she made a survey of eight European countries and the work being done of a nature similar to that of Junior Programs. In her survey she secured a number of ideas which will be added to the program in the United States.

At noon Mrs. McFadden was honored in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Russell Brenner of Huron avenue with a luncheon.

City Manager Of Cleveland Heights Is Shot In Mouth

Man Opens Fire On Suburban Officials At Close Of Council Session

IS BEING HELD FOR EXAMINATION

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, Sept. 20.—Shot in the face by a man who had sat through a routine council meeting, Harry H. Canfield, city manager of Cleveland Heights, was in "fairly good" condition in Huron road hospital today.

George H. Hartshorn, law director of the suburb, received minor injuries when Canfield's assailant, who had fired at the city manager, was shot by police.

The assailant, subdued by Police Chief P. C. Grotenbach, gave his name as Charles Sabetto, 61, of Cleveland Heights, police said. He was held in jail pending psychiatric examination.

Man Opens Fire
The shooting occurred as a meeting of city council drew to a close. Police said Sabetto advanced to the rear of the council chamber and fired at the council members. Sabetto was shot in the mouth and chest. He was taken to Huron road hospital.

One of the bullets struck Canfield in the mouth and came out through his cheek. Hartshorn, standing a short distance away from Sabetto, plunged at him and was slugged on the head twice. He was treated at Lakeside hospital.

Police, examining Sabetto after the shooting, said he was a former employee of the suburb's street department who had become angered at his failure to get his job back after being laid off five months ago.

Would Restore Ancient Vessel

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 20.—Legislative approval has been given to a resolution urging the governor to obtain federal funds for the restoration of the flag ship "Niagara." The resolution was sponsored by Reps. Wagner and Gorski, Erie county Democrats.

The resolution seeks to have the historic naval vessel restored to the condition it was in at the time of the battle of Lake Erie in the war of 1812.

The 125th anniversary of the battle was observed September 10. The resolution set forth that the battle of Lake Erie resulted in saving all the territory west of the Allegheny mountains for the United States, and that half of the U. S. fleet used in that engagement was built at Erie.

Payne Tells Story Of Fatal Accident

Defendant Testifies In Accident Resulting In Deaths Of Law And Garvin

William W. Payne, charged with involuntary manslaughter in connection with the death of David Law and Edward Garvin in an automobile accident at Rose Point, went on the witness stand in his own defense before Judge W. Walter Brannan at court this morning.

Payne testified that on July 9, about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, he and David Law, Edward Garvin, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Allen, formed a party to go swimming. They drove first to Caspide Park, and then to the Willie Roy Park, just beyond Rose Point.

After reaching the park, two of the party suggested that they get some beer and asked him to drive to a place opposite the Dixie Inn, where Garvin and Allen scoured several bottles of beer. Payne was in the place, he said, but did not drink anything but a bottle of pop.

Garvin and Allen brought some of the bottles of beer back with them, and gave them to the attendant at Willie Roy Park to keep for them while they went swimming. After the swim the bottles were called for. Payne said that at no time did he drink any of the beer.

The party started back to New Castle around 7 o'clock, with Payne driving. He said that as he went over the hill at Rose Point there was a car parked off the berm on the right hand side, where a tire was being repaired. He drove a short distance past this parked car, when he noticed another car, headed toward New Castle, but backing toward the car where the tire was being repaired. The car, he said, was backing quite rapidly and was near the center of the road.

"I pulled off onto the berm to escape the car," said Payne, "but just as I passed it another car came over the hill going east. I pulled quickly back to the right to escape being struck by this car. As I did so I heard a noise as though something had gone wrong with the right front wheel of my car. The next instant it overturned and I was knocked unconscious."

Payne was asked how fast he was going at the time and replied that he was driving about 45 miles an hour.

Eugene Cramer, attendant at the park, told about the beer having been brought back by Garvin and Allen, and about his remonstrating about taking it, as it was against the rules to have liquor at the park.

Mrs. McCurdy of Rose Point, an eye witness of the accident, said that the car which was backing down the hill as Payne came up, was backing faster than person could run. She said that the Payne car swung to the left off the concrete to miss it, and then to the right to miss the car coming in the opposite direction. The Payne car overturned as it left the concrete on the right hand side. Several other witnesses gave somewhat similar testimony. The defense rested at noon and arguments and the charge of the court took up the greater part of the afternoon.

Kills 50 Dogs During August

Fifty dogs were killed by the city dog-catcher during August, it was reported today.

The evidence of their death is sent to a state bureau and the city receives $1.00 for each dog slain.

This money is placed in general revenue and practically pays the $60 monthly wage of the dog-catcher.

According to the dog-catcher more dogs are found running loose on the North Hill and Seventh ward than any other section.

He said that not many dogs are allowed to roam free during the day time but many are let loose at night.

How to Safeguard Your Furs and Fur-Trimmed Garments

Keeping abreast with new scientific developments in the Dry Cleaning World, a new patented Sulphonated Oil Process recently developed and used by the fur industry in the final oil treating of furs, is now successfully used by Smith's Cleaners & Dyers in combination with Polar Bear cleaning, which is the regular furrier's way. In other words the natural oil is put back into furs with every cleansing.

This new method, approved by the fur industry, produces the finest results in fur cleansing service. It restores furs to their natural softness, making them soft and pliable. Shedding is also prevented.

With this new process, including fur nap glazing which is a special product imported from the Orient, new life and lustre are added to your furs and color is renewed.

Smith's fur cleansing method is as follows:

The linings of all fur coats are thoroughly cleaned and by hand. The furs are then placed in a regular fur drum with Polar Bear, a corn shaving especially prepared and saturated with a cleansing fluid in combination with a new sulphurated oil which is very penetrating to the leather part of the fur after a short running time, furs are removed and put into another machine to tumble out the Polar Bear shavings.

A fur beater operation is required before the nap glazing process is applied, which is a Chinese bark imported from the Orient. This process renews the color and nap.

Furs are then taken to the fur department and examined by the furrier for repairs, if required.

We are fully equipped with fur sewing machines and can be repairing all kinds, including matching up any type of fur. This enables us to render the finest in Fur Cleansing and Fur Repairing service.

Super-Highway Is Being Planned Thru Pittsburgh

HARRISBURG, Sept. 20.—Ambitious plans for the construction of a 20-mile super-highway through Pittsburgh at an estimated cost of $27,000,000 have been announced by the state department of highways.

The highway, a four-lane divided, without dangerous intersections, would be built to permit through traffic to speed through Pittsburgh and to provide easy access to all points within the city, explained Chief Engineer Samuel W. Marshall. "The Department of Highways contemplates the preparation of an application to PWA for a grant of 45 per cent of the estimated cost of this project," added Marshall. "Negotiations will be started immediately with the State Highway Department, Allegheny county and the city of Pittsburgh in an effort to provide the funds in addition to a possible grant from PWA."

Marshall said the plan had met with the "enthusiastic support and approval" of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads officials. "The road would relieve traffic congestion, which is the worst that exists in Pennsylvania," said Marshall. The new highway would connect with the William Penn highway in the vicinity of the Church Hill Valley country club and Lincoln highway at a point about a quarter of a mile east of Wilkinsburg.

Pottery To Close At East Liverpool

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Sept. 20.—The C. C. Thompson Pottery Company, which has operated here for 70 years, notified its 300 employees today that it will discontinue business as soon as its warehouse stock is exhausted.

George C. Thompson, president, said the action was due to "poor business and trade conditions and unsatisfactory sales prices."

The decision left this pottery capital of America with only one major ceramic plant, the Hall China Company, in East Liverpool proper. Other major potteries are located in Chester and Newell, W. Va., just across the Ohio river. No disposition has been made of the factory recently modernized, which was founded in 1868 by Joseph Thompson, pioneer merchant, and his son, Cassius C. Thompson. Discontinuance of the business was announced as representatives of the United States Pottery Association and the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters continued negotiations at Atlantic City for a new two-year contract for 14,000 union workers. The industry now is operating under a wage agreement expiring September 30.

Search For Slayer Ends When Body Is Fished From River

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—The police today called off their hunt for the Bronx upshoter suspected of strangling blond Alice Dubossi in a lonely stretch of woodland in Yonkers.

Their search ended when the body of Barkis Horton was fished from the Hudson river at the foot of Dyckman St.

The body was identified by Horton's wife, Ethel, from whom the father of three children had turned in an unsuccessful attempt to win the love of the 38-year old beautiful.

"That's my husband" Mrs. Horton said.

Then she turned away and wept.

Walter P. Simpson Named Commander Of Randolph Post

Program Hour Features Address On The Constitution By V. V. Johnston

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 20.—Walter P. Simpson was highly honored last evening when he was elected Commander of the J. Wilbur Randolph Post of the American Legion for a period of one year. Mr. Simpson will succeed present Commander Fred D. Polster, who has filled the office in a capable and faithful manner that has won the admiration of the members and their friends.

Other officers selected to serve with Mr. Simpson were: First vice commander, Arthur Grandy; second vice commander, Dan Evans; Adjutant, Ralph Little; chaplain, Robert Taylor; sergeant at arms, Archie Stiefel; historian, Dr. Charles Biscaglia; legal aid, Attorney R. B. Luke; executive committee, Loyal Wilson, Wayne Baird, Fred Polster, James McLaughlin and Hugh Holiday.

In observance of Constitution Day the program hour was featured by an address on the subject, "The Three Great Compromises," by V. V. Johnston, of this city. Mr. Johnston is an able speaker and his timely address was both informative and enlightening. Burgess McGlinchy and Paxton R. Pike, of this city, both spoke briefly on the Constitution.

On Wednesday evening, September 21, the Sons of Legion will meet in the Legion home and at that time officers will be chosen. The flag committee reported that the flag pole in the Legion Park had been replaced.

Fights Health Plan

Speaking before a special session of the House of Delegates of the American Medical Association, meeting in Chicago, Dr. Rock Sleyster (above), of Wauwatosa, Wis., declared that sentiment for government medical care is a foreign growth in this country, entirely artificial, and its so-called humanitarianism is just a careful disguise by its promoters.

Alleged Bribe Scandal Is Due For Airing Today

Philadelphia Democrat, Member Of Legislature, To Face State Probers

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Sept. 20.—An alleged legislative scandal in which it is charged $150,000 in bribes was paid for the passage of beer and movie legislation in the 1935 general assembly was due for a further airing today.
Rep. Charles Melchiorre, Philadelphia Democrat, who former attorney general Charles J. Margiotti testified, revealed to him details of the matter, including the revelation that Melchiorre himself received $5,000, was scheduled to take the stand in his own defense today. Melchiorre told newspapermen Margiotti's allegations were "lies".
Preceding Melchiorre's testimony, however, the House investigating committee was scheduled to further question L. E. Peard, Johnstown engineer formerly employed by Margiotti as a justice department investigator.

Denies Knowledge
Peard was questioned at length yesterday about what he knew of alleged "irregularities" in the general state authority $65,000,000 construction program following an investigation made by him at Margiotti's direction.
Peard, however, disclaimed any knowledge of the "irregularities" Margiotti referred to.
Deducting from interest in Peard's appearance was the failure of Margiotti to be present. Last week, when committee counsel announced Peard would be summoned, Margiotti declared he would be needed, adding then that Peard had since been interviewed by the governor and would probably "now be a witness for the governor."

Looking for beef melt?

Current issue of a national outdoor sports magazine advertises beef melt as a new catfish bait discovery. Old-timers along the catfish belt of Indiana and Illinois long have known the lethal qualities of the best of baits.
Beef melt is the spleen of a beef, usually classed as waste by packing houses. Ruddy and fibrous, it makes the ideal catfish bait, producing big strings when ordinary baits won't rate a nibble.
Down along the Wabash, where catfish is the staple crop, we first ran into beef melt in the summer of 1928. From Logansport to Old Vincennes they were wild that summer—raving at the renaissance in the catfish holes.

Nights Start To Lengthen Friday

Sun To Pass Half-way Point On Journey Southward This Week

On Friday, September 23, the sun will pass the half-way point on its journey southward, and the hours of daylight will grow shorter until the 21st of December, after which they will gradually start lengthening again, the increase being almost imperceptible for a long time.
Ever since June 21, the summer solstice, the evening hours have been growing shorter.
The first day of autumn will arrive on Friday and there will be three months of the most glorious time of the year, when Mother Nature changes her color from green to brown, and gold and red, with varying shades in between.
Soon the first will be on the pumpkins, the leaves will start "turning" down, and the cellars will be "sweet-smelling with apples".
Soon will come Halloween and its joys for children and grownups, too, who like to get out and hide their identity while cutting up capers. But right after that will be Old King Winter with his nipping winds and ice and snow. But we don't like to think too far ahead.

National League Games Rained Out

For Second Straight Day Jupiter Pluvius Throttles Hot Pennant Race

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Rain today washed out all games scheduled for the National league and it appeared probable that the weather man would have a large voice in deciding the pennant winner.

The postponements will throw a terrific burden on the pitching staffs of the Pirates, Cubs, Reds and Giants. The Pirates will be called on to play four games with the Dodgers in the next two days. The Reds must play three with the Giants in two days and the Cubs have four to play with the Phillies in two days.

Favors Pirates
Offhand, one would say the Cubs would feel the strain more than the other three contenders for they can rely on Bill Lee and Clay Bryant. Their other moundsmen strictly are a gamble.

The Reds have more and better pitchers than the others and it seems likely now that the pennant will be decided in the seven games they have left to play with the Pirates.

The Pirates have most to gain by postponements. If rain were to wash out all their games with the Reds, the Pirates almost certainly would win.

Rain figures to do most harm to the Cubs for they have four games to play with the Phillies and they certainly figure to win at least three, if not all of them.

The Pirates have 14 games remaining; each of the others has 13 left to play. The Pirates have a 3 1/2 game lead so the burden of proof is on the Cubs, Reds and Giants.

Four Sets Of Twins In First Grade

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Sept. 20.—Sister Julia at St. Anne's parochial school, Castle Shannon, saw double four times the first day of classes here recently—as four sets of twins proudly stepped forth to be enrolled in the first grade.

The record may be one to be proud of, she admits, but it becomes somewhat of a problem at times too, she claims, particularly if one of the pair happens to be out.

In order to determine the names of the twins, she has a system—but admits it's only about 50 per cent effective. John and Joseph Stelute and Robert and Joseph Brinsky are the "look-alikes." So she just leaves it up to themselves to identify one another.

Richard and Joseph Hofman aren't much trouble—as long as she can remember which one happens to be a mite taller than the other—or if one doesn't come to school in high heels.

As for Jennie and John Corney—that's no problem at all, what with Jennie wearing dresses.
Of course, Sister Julia admits, it does sound like double talk when the roll is called.
